ERA, PSC bill, death definition due before legislature

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Expanded authority for the official who represents consumers in utility rate increase cases comes before the Missouri House this week as the legislature resumed work today.

The proposal, a priority item for both Gov. Joseph P. Teasdale and the House Democratic leadership, is the product of several weeks of review by the House Consumer Protection Committee. But several provisions sought by Public Counsel William Barvick were deleted from the bill before it was sent to the floor.

There's a good chance the Equal Rights Amendment will come up for consideration this week on the floor of the Senate.

The resolution, sponsored by Sen. Harriett Woods, D-University City, is the sixth from the top on the Senate's agenda. An Associated Press poll taken two weeks ago showed that proponents of the amendment do not have the votes to pass the measure.

ERA, which prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex, was defeated in the Missouri Senate two years ago.

At the top of the Senate calendar today is a bill sponsored by De Soto Democrat Jack Gannon which would allow the payment of a $100 reenlistment bonus to members of the Missouri National Guard who sign up for another year of service. The bonus would be paid up to $600 per guardsman.

Also to come up for final approval in the Senate this week is a measure defining death as the irreversible cessation of total brain functions.

Revision of the law governing the public counsel's operation has been unsuccessful in the past two sessions since the office was created under state reorganization in 1974. But the possibility for the bill's enactment this session has increased in light of Teasdale's upset victory in the governor's race on an anti-utility, pro-consumer platform.

The initial impetus for the bill was challenged by utilities which contended that Barvick, as the public counsel, did not have authority to appeal decisions of the Public Service Commission to the courts. Although that position has been upheld in lower courts, the Kansas City Court of Appeals earlier this month ruled that Barvick did have the right to go to court.

In addition to clarifying the appeal authority of the public counsel, however, the bill also calls for the funding of the public counsel's office primarily by utilities. Two-thirds of the operations of the PSC are financed by utilities now.

Currently, the public counsel is financed by general revenue appropriated through the legislature, and in the past two years lawmakers have slashed the recommendations of former Gov. Christopher S. Bond for the public counsel's office. While the utility funding proposal, which would actually mean that utility customers would pay for the public counsel through their rates, would still require appropriation by the legislature, it would remove much of the financing of the office from political considerations.

But deleted from the bill was the transfer of the PSC staff to control of the public counsel as called for by Teasdale to give the public counsel the research and technical ability to respond to claims made by utilities and properly investigate them.

The proposal would, however, permit the public counsel to contract for research and other technical services as well as hire some staff on his own.

Permanent solution sought to fume problem at school

Mark Twain Elementary School students will return to classes as usual Tuesday morning, and city officials are currently working on a proposal to present to the City Council Tuesday night to prevent a recurrence of the gas fume problem there.

The school was closed briefly Feb. 11 and all day last Monday, Thursday and Friday because of gasoline fumes entering the school through the sewer system. The fumes were traced to a leak in a gasoline pump at Freese Dairy, 100 South Prospect. The leak was repaired, but gas in the soil around Mark Twain forced fumes into a sump pump opening in the school's basement Wednesday.

City sanitation crews plugged off the sewer line leading into the school Friday morning and began flushing the line with detergents and water to rid it of the fumes.

School officials met with city officials and inspected Mark Twain Sunday, with Woodrow Garrison, city building, electrical and plumbing inspector, declaring the building safe for resumption of classes.

School and city officials met again Monday morning to further discuss the problem and a permanent solution. School officials requested at that meeting that the sewer line on the west side of Mark Twain be replaced, according to Superintendent of Schools Kem Keithly.

The sewer line involved is believed to be about 80 or 90 years old and has some leaking or broken tiles, Keithly said. The bypass operation being used at present to prevent fumes from entering the school cannot be kept up forever, he said.

Mayor Allen Hawkins, commenting on Monday morning's meeting, agreed there is a leak in the main sewer line at Mark Twain and that the temporary solution cannot be maintained indefinitely.

City Sanitation Superintendent Gary Johnson and Public Works Director Bob Cunningham are currently working on a proposal to submit to the council Tuesday evening, Hawkins said. City Counselor J.R. Fritz is also looking into any legal aspects involved, he noted.

Gas study questioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Interior Department study claiming natural gas production had been cut back in the Gulf of Mexico fails to make any effort to determine why this happened, the ranking Republican member of a congressional subcommittee probing natural gas shortages said today.

Rep. Phillip Ruppe, R-Mich., questioned the value of the recent study which concluded that there were non-producing natural gas reservoirs off the Gulf Coast containing 980 billion cubic feet of gas.

"The report does not give us a clue as to why the 980 billion cubic feet are not in production," Ruppe said, as a House interior subcommittee heard testimony from Interior Department officials who helped draft the report.

William Bettenberg, acting assistant interior secretary for energy and minerals, defended the report, called it just a preliminary investigation and acknowledged that it did not try to find out why the natural gas was not being produced.

State officials critical of halt of dam funds

By The Associated Press

Officials in 15 states warn that President Carter will be displaying poor judgment and bad timing if he drops funding for 18 dams and other water projects — most of them in the drought-stricken West.

Administration sources said over the weekend that Carter will ask Congress to withhold fiscal 1978 funds from the projects pending a review of their usefulness and environmental safety.

The sources said Carter would announce his decision today or Tuesday.

"It's a completely incomprehensible action," said Felix Sparks, director of the Colorado Water Conservation Board. "We're completely devastated because of the drought and other conditions, and we need the money that's available."

Many of the projects have been controversial, and some opponents were delighted with the prospect of further review.

"I'm thrilled to death," said Donald Landry, an official of Terrebonne Parish in Louisiana. "Maybe this is an indication that we have somebody in the White House now who cares a little bit about some of these things."

John Sieh, chairman of the Oahe Conservancy Subdistrict Board in South Dakota, said, "I feel the President has come out on the side of the people in South Dakota."

But attorney Edward Clyde, who has been involved in water planning in Utah for 35 years, predicted that Congress will reject Carter's proposal.

He said "it's inconceivable that rational minds would stop" the Central Utah Project's Bonneville Unit, one of the 18 projects named by administration sources. That unit is designed to carry water from northeastern Utah mountains to arid populated valleys.

Clyde said the project had been underway for 25 years, and already had cost $200 million in federal funds and $20 million in state money.

North Dakota Gov. Arthur Link said he was "shocked" by the reported proposal and called it "unjustified."

"I'm hard put to believe they would take this drastic action," he added.

In Denver, where western and midwestern governors met on Sunday to discuss the drought, Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus said it was "regrettable" that they learned of Carter's plan before he could contact them personally.

"It would have helped this meeting if the announcement had come next week," he said.

Andrus said many of the 18 projects did not meet federal safety, cost-benefit or environmental standards, and he said that was the reason Carter had excluded them from his proposed budget for the 1978 fiscal year.

AFL-CIO to seek labor law revamp

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The AFL-CIO, looking for backing in the Democrat-controlled Congress, has chosen this spring to fight for an omnibus revision of basic labor laws, including repeal of the "right-to-work" provision of the Taft-Hartley Act.

A tax on the labor federation's 14 million members will finance a public relations campaign aimed at winning public support and understanding. An AFL-CIO source said the tax is expected to raise $750,000.

Labor's senior legislative strategists decided on the one bill approach rather than a piecemeal attack during private weekend meetings here. The union's executive council, which holds its winter meeting today, is expected to approve the program and AFL-CIO President George Meany will unveil it Tuesday.

Although labor sources say they expect a hard fight in Congress, they believe chances for success are the best in a decade with Democrats controlling both Congress and the White House.

Labor Secretary Ray Marshall, who met with union officials last week, indicated the Carter administration will stay out of the fight over repeal of the Taft-Hartley "right-to-work" provision, known as Section 14-b. The section allows states to ban union-shop contracts.

However, President Carter promised during his election campaign to sign such legislation if passed by Congress.

According to sources, labor lobbyists will seek to use a bill already introduced by Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the House labor subcommittee, as the vehicle for the changes they want. His bill would make major changes in the 41-year-old National Labor Relations Act.

The Thompson bill, called the Labor Reform Act of 1977, would ease union organizing efforts by speeding the representation process. Through amendments AFL-CIO lobbyists would include repeal of Section 14-b in the bill.

Union officials view the Thompson bill as an effort to redress what they contend is a legal imbalance that permits employers to delay union organizing attempts. They say employers often find it cheaper to break the law and pay the fines rather than permit unionization of their employees.

Also a part of the legislative strategy — and as the first test of Carter's campaign promises — the AFL-CIO is pushing for quick passage of four bills that were vetoed by former President Ford.

These measures would expand union picketing rights at construction sites, remove the ban on political activities by federal workers, require that half of all imported oil be carried on U.S. ships, and set strict requirements on the restoration of strip mined land.

Trudeau, Carter meet for two days of talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — With nary a ruffle or a flourish for himself but four for his visitor, President Carter is welcoming Canada's prime minister for two days of discussions ranging from nuclear controls to rival fishing rights.

Prime Minister and Mrs. Pierre Elliott Trudeau arrive at the White House today to a 19-gun salute.

The President's foreign visitor highlighted a day of Carter meetings with his senior staff, the Cabinet and Vice President Walter Mondale. Carter planned a state dinner for Trudeau at the White House tonight.

Although the President had said he would cut some of the customary pomp and circumstance for foreign dignitaries, he ordered up the Army Band for four ruffles and flourishes to greet Trudeau. Five military guard units were summoned for review.

As he had last week for his first foreign visitor, Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo, Carter dispensed with ruffles, flourishes and "Hail to the Chief" for himself. There were only the national anthem and the Canadian anthem.

In the afternoon, Carter and Trudeau planned to discuss global matters, including the proposed London economic summit, East-West relations, curbing the spread of nuclear technology, arms sales and the laws of the sea.

On Tuesday, they planned talks on U.S.-Canadian issues, emphasizing mutual economic, environmental and energy concerns.

Vance heads home

Differences are 'sharp'

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance said today "very sharp differences" remain among the Israelis and the Arabs on how to deal with the Palestinians and other issues standing in the way of resumption of Mideast peace talks in Geneva.

Vance told a news conference before departing for home after his six-nation Middle East tour that "all parties agree on the need for peace" and would like to redirect their economies away from massive military expenditures.

But "one must be careful not to be overly optimistic," he cautioned.

The secretary of state was seen off at the airport by Syrian Foreign Minister Abdulhalim Khaddam.

He told reporters that his visits to Israel, Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia and Syria gave him "a clear understanding" of the Middle East situation. He said all six governments are prepared to resume the Geneva talks during the second half of this year. But he said the Arabs themselves were divided on how Palestinian interests should be represented.

A major topic of Vance's week of talks was ways to bring the Palestinians into negotiations with Israel, which refuses to negotiate with the Palestinian Liberation Organization until it formally recognizes Israel's right to exist.

Emil L. Sievers, 74, 600 West Broadway, died at 5:30 p.m. Sunday at Community Hospital in Sweet Springs. Survivors include his wife, Rowena, and one daughter, Martha Ann Sievers, both of the home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete. The body is at the Heckart-Gillespie Funeral Home.

PSC hearing set on water increase

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Public Service Commission will hold a hearing March 2 in Nevada to allow customers of Missouri Public Service Co. to testify on the utility's proposed water rate increase. The hearing will be at 7 p.m. in the City-County Community Center. The utility, which provides water serve in Clinton, Nevada and Osceola, has asked for an increase in gross annual revenues of about $401,000. The proposed rates have been suspended by the commission.

Detroit newspaper wins top prize in competition

CHICAGO (AP) — For the second straight year, the Detroit Free Press was awarded the top Editorial Excellence award by the William Allen White Foundation for the Inland Daily Press Association.

The Free Press received the award today for a series of editorials outlining a "mature, solid way" for the community to recover from effects of last summer's crime wave in Detroit.

Other winners by circulation groups were: —25,001-50,000: the Arlington Heights (Ill.) Herald. —10,001-25,000: the North Platte (Neb.) Telegraph. —Under 10,000: the Sheridan (Wyo.) Press.

There were 105 contest entries from 19 states and Canada, which were judged by faculty members at the William Allen White School of Journalism at the University of Kansas.

The three editorials of the Free Press sought to bring a focus to the civic determination growing out of seven weeks of violence by youth groups, the foundation said.

"The danger is that after a lot of talk, the commitment to constructive action will be lost, leaving only worsened race relations and a further demoralization of the city," the Free Press said. "We are determined to see that it doesn't happen that way, that Detroit moves out in a mature, solid way to do a lot of things that should have been done before now."

The Arlington Heights Herald's winning editorial asked the police chief to step down after 28 years of "serving the department with distinction" and was cited for striking "that difficult balance between a warm and compassionate regard for a veteran officer and the recognition that it was time for him to retire," the judges said.

Mrs. Helen M. Gilbert

Graveside services for Mrs. Helen Marie Gilbert, 85, a former Sedalian who died Feb. 15 at a Kansas City nursing home, were held Thursday at Memorial Park Cemetery.

Born in St. Louis, Mrs. Gilbert had made her home in the Kansas City area the past 17 years. She was a member of the Pettis County chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Jewell Williams and Mrs. Thorna Friend, both of Riverside.

Hillery L. Norton Jr.

Funeral services for Hillery L. Norton Jr., 53, 1000 West 14th, who died at 9:50 a.m. Saturday at Bothwell Hospital, will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Sacred Heart Catholic Church with the Rev. Vincent Hoying officiating.

Burial will be in the National Cemetery, Springfield.

The rosary will be recited at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the McLaughlin Funeral Chapel.

The North Platte Telegraph was at the center of a gag rule issued that resulted from the murder trail of Charles Simants.

While the issues were being argued before the U.S. Supreme Court, the newspaper told its readers the Nebraska case "may not be a good case or a good place to draw the line" but was the result of vigorous lawyers and vigorous journalists carrying logical principles to illogical ends.

The Sheridan Press was cited for suggesting ways and itemizing costs for local officials to deal with increasing vandalism in the community.

Other finalists in the editorial competition were:

—Over 50,000 circulation: Duluth (Minn.) News-Tribune; Minneapolis (Minn.) Tribune

—25,001 to 50,000: Bay City (Mich.) Times; Richmond (Ind.) Palladium-Item.

—10,000 to 25,000: Burlington (Iowa) Hawk Eye; Traverse City (Mich.) Record-Eagle.

—Under 10,000: Grand Haven (Mich.) Tribune.

Man arrested after truck rams fence

Sedalia police were holding two men in jail at noon Monday pending the possible filing of charges in connection with two separate incidents Sunday.

One man was being held in connection with $3,800 damage to three trucks and a fence at Parkhurst Manufacturing Plant No. 3 on Industrial Drive about 3:45 p.m. Sunday. The man reportedly rammed the fence with a truck and then climbed into a similar truck and drove it into the fence. This time he was able to crash through the fence but turned around and drove back into the plant's lot.

He then got into another truck and drove it through a gate to make his escape. Police were able to stop him at Broadway and Thompson Blvd. minutes later.

Another man was in jail in connection with the theft of $500 from the room of Robert D. Titus, 27, at the Bothwell Hotel. Titus reported the theft to police about 3:15 a.m. Sunday. Details of the theft were not released by police.

In other police news, Herbert Hall, 401 East 17th, reported the theft of his tape player and 12 tapes from his car while it was parked at Bothwell Hospital Friday night. Value for the items was set at $125.

Water panel plans to ponder opinion

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Clean Water Commission will take up consideration of a recent attorney general's opinion at its meeting here Thursday.

The opinion said the commission may not make binding agreements for state repayment of water supply costs at federal reservoirs.

The Feb. 1 opinion, delivered to the Department of Natural Resources, indicated that only the legislature may make binding agreements.

The opinion raises questions about whether the state may reimburse the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for water supplies received from such projects as the Meramec Dam.

Deaf boy missing

Dogs lead searchers to ice-covered pond

ATCHISON, Kan. (AP) — Two Golden Labrador retrievers especially trained for rescue work joined the search today for an almost deaf 4-year-old boy missing since Friday.

The dogs led searchers to an ice-covered farm pond and became very excited there, the sheriff's office said. The dogs resumed their search while rescue workers planned to drag the pond after breaking through the ice with the propeller of a boat motor or, if necessary, dynamite.

The pond is about three miles west of the babysitters' house from which the boy, Jeremy Coots, wandered off Friday. The house is located near the Missouri River.

The dogs were flown in from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., early this morning.

The dogs were flown in from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., early today to track down young Jeremy Coots, who wandered off from his babysitter's home near the Missouri River Friday afternoon.

Atchison County Deputy Sheriff Harold Kern said the search operation would be turned over to the dogs and their trainers, who are working under a federal research grant.

Kern said the dogs had an exceptional record in finding missing persons. Their services were being offered at no charge, although a local bank established a fund to pay their flight expense.

Authorities halted a search by volunteers at 9 p.m. Sunday in an effort to give the dogs a fresh area to work in when they began tracking today.

The youngster can make out voices with his hearing aid but is almost totally deaf without it, according to his parents. Observers speculated the boy may have lost the hearing aid in a fall.

Some 500 searchers, aided by planes and helicopters, combed several square miles south of this northeast Kansas community all day Saturday and Sunday.

Police dogs tracked the boy to the Missouri River Friday shortly after he wandered away from the home of Kim Reynolds, his babysitter, about 2 p.m. The last person to see him was Mrs. Reynolds' son, Jimmy.

Mrs. Reynolds asked for assistance over her CB radio and those responding were later joined by searchers in planes and helicopters.

Times report on payments termed a lie

MANILA (AP) — Undersecretary of Defense Jose Crisol, a confidant of the late President Ramon Magsaysay, today called a report that Magsaysay was paid by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency "a pack of lies."

The New York Times quoted unidentified U.S. sources on Saturday as saying Magsaysay was among several world leaders who received secret payments from the CIA for favors and support.

"There is no basis in truth or in fact for this report," said Crisol, who was Magsaysay's director of the National Bureau of Administration.

Magsaysay, who successfully put down the Communist Huk rebellion, was killed in a plane crash in 1957 during the third year of his four-year term.

"They only want to cash in on the phenomenal success of President Magsaysay with the masses," said Crisol. "It is regrettable that the man should be slandered when he is no longer in a position to defend himself."

The Times article followed reports from various sources in Washington that the CIA had funneled money secretly to Jordan's King Hussein, President Makarios of Cyprus, former West German Chancellor Willy Brandt, former President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam, President Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya, President Sese Seko Mobutu of Zaire, Prime Minister Forbes Burnham of Guyana and the Dalai Lama of Tibet.

The Times article said others who were paid secretly included the late President Chiang Kai-Shek of Nationalist China, President Carlos Andres Perez of Venezuela, the late President Syngman Rhee of South Korea and the late President Ngo Dien Diem of South Vietnam.

Makarios, Brandt, Perez and the Jordanian government have denied the reports.

Warmer weather to turn cooler

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Clear and warmer weather is on tap for Missouri today and Tuesday, but the National Weather Service said there would be a turn to cooler weather and a chance for rain about the middle of the week.

Early morning temperatures today were mostly in the 20s, but temperatures increased as southerly winds pumped warmer air into Missouri.

The extended outlook called for scattered showers and mild weather Wednesday, with highs in the 50s. A turn to cooler weather was forecast toward the end of the week, with more rain and highs in the 40s by Friday.

Vance

Vance said the Israelis and Arabs do not even share the same definition of peace. To the Israelis, peace includes full diplomatic relations, he said, but to the Arabs, it involves only an end to the state of war with relations developing later.

The secretary of state said Syrian President Hafez Assad would probably meet President Carter in Europe in May, after other Arab and Israeli leaders visit Washington in March and April for a series of meetings to work out plans for resumption of the Geneva conference. The United States and the Soviet Union are co-chairmen of the conference.

Soviets offer $4 million for W. German jet

BONN, West Germany (AP) The Soviet Union, from which a defecting pilot flew a MIG25 to Japan, is offering $4 million to any pilot who flies one of the West German Luftwaffe's Phantom jets to the Communist East, the newspaper Bild reported today.

The chief of West Germany's military counterespionage service, Brig. Gen. Paul Albert Scherer told a parliamentary committee meeting recently that Soviet and Czechoslovak intelligence services have been interested in the American-built Phantom's German radar for years, the paper said.

The report said Scherer denied reports that his agency kept Phantom pilots under surveillance.

A government spokesman refused to confirm or deny the paper's report. Defense Minister Georg Leber some weeks ago denied a report that a group of Phantom pilots demanding better pay had been checked out by the counter-intelligence agency.

The U.S. government made its first examination of the Soviet MIG25 when Lt. Viktor Ivanovich Belenko, a fighter pilot, flew his plane to Japan on Sept. 6 and asked for asylum in the United States. Japanese and American experts studied the plane, and then it was dismantled and returned to the Soviet Union. Belenko was given asylum in the United States.

Can the arms race ever be curbed?

WASHINGTON — The brutal battle over whether to confirm Paul C. Warnke as chief U.S. negotiator in the next strategic arms limitation (SALT) talks is but a symbol of this nation's agony.

Rowan

We see the madness of pouring ever larger amounts of our precious resources into systems of destruction, but we keep hearing some Americans cry that it would be suicidal to stop.

Americans are caught up in one of the oldest, most passionate debates in the nation's history: is there any safe way to curb an arms race with a potential enemy like the Soviet Union which has manifested evangelistic zeal to rule the world and has been known to violate more than a few agreements?

Warnke is little more than a decoy target. The salvos of the conservatives, the Kremlin-fearers, the munitions makers, the anti-disarmers are really aimed at Jimmy Carter.

The man from Georgia has brought to the Oval Office some rhetoric about disarmament that frightens the hawks, both Republican and Democratic. He has set as his goal a "drastic reduction in dependence on nuclear weapons." He has called for a total ban on nuclear testing. In his inaugural address he puffed on what critics call the pipedream of "the elimination of all nuclear weapons from this earth."

Warnke's bitterest critics assailed him as "a unilateral disarmer." Their real target is Carter, who they think isn't sufficiently fearful of the possibility the Soviets will take advantage of U.S. idealism to gain a nuclear advantage such that they could launch a first strike so devastating the U.S. could not retaliate with meaningful force.

This is nothing but modern history repeating itself. John F. Kennedy was troubled by the same pessimism and negativism in early 1963. The plenum of the Central Committee of the Communist party was about to meet in Russia and intelligence reports said Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev would rise in the plenum session and attack the U.S. Americans wondered when the next grave nuclear crisis would come.

Kennedy figured this was the time for "unilateral" action. He would make a peace gesture; Khrushchev would either respond positively, or he would look like a fool to the world if he went ahead with bombastic attack.

So Kennedy went to American University on June 10, 1963, and gave a historic speech in which he said that if the U.S. and Russia could not end their differences "at least we can help make the world safe for diversity. For in the final analysis our most basic common link is that we all inhabit this planet. We all breathe the same air."

Kennedy said the U.S. would make the unilateral move of halting the testing of nuclear weapons in the atmosphere. He hoped the Soviet Union would do the same. Four months later the U.S. and Russia signed a nuclear test ban agreement that halted their poisoning of the air we breathe.

President Nixon made a similar unilateral declaration which prodded the Soviets into an agreement that both countries would destroy their potential for chemical and biological warfare.

Kennedy lamented in 1963: "Let us examine our attitude toward peace itself...too many of us think it impossible."

That is the attitude which has clouded the debate over Paul Warnke. The assumption is that if the real Russian desire is to surpass the U.S. militarily and rule the world, nothing can mute or constrain that desire except reckless U.S. spending on arms of ever-greater sophistication and destructiveness.

But we must remember anew that the Russians are mortal, too. They want to breathe safe air, to live out their lives, to avoid a ghastly holocaust. They are scarcely so much more sneaky or duplicitous than we that they want to make the world unsafe for diversity.

Can Jimmy Carter convince Americans that we can curb the arms race and still go to bed feeling safe?

In Washington Add Bush to list in '80

By MARTHA ANGLE and
ROBERT WALTERS

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Add another name to the list of potential Republican presidential candidates for 1980: George Bush, freed from the tongue-tying restraints of the Central Intelligence Agency, is back on the political market.

Angle and Walters

Bush, 48, one of the GOP's most articulate and versatile figures, has just returned to Houston to resume a business career and rebuild his partisan political credentials in case opportunity beckons four years hence.

Although Congress has barely finished counting the 1976 electoral votes, the line of Republicans who may seek a shot at Jimmy Carter in 1980 keeps growing. Bush is merely the latest addition to a list that includes:

Ronald Reagan, John Connally, Elliot Richardson, Donald Rumsfeld, Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., Illinois Gov. Jim Thompson and the defeated 1976 ticket, Gerald R. Ford and Sen. Robert Dole.

Even before he unpacked, Bush dashed off to Alaska for a round of Lincoln Day speeches, his first political appearances in three years. (As head of the U.S. mission to the People's Republic of China and later as CIA director, he avoided partisan events).

"I'll be doing some of that kind of thing, hopefully to help the party," Bush told us. "I've told people that, sure, I want to stay alive politically."

Bush won't need to scratch around for invitations. As GOP national chairman for 20 months in 1973-74, he delivered hundreds of speeches on the rubber-chicken circuit during the darkest days of Watergate, when Republicans needed all the help they could get. The party activists haven't forgotten his dedication.

Bush can also count on assistance from a small but talented group of political operatives who returned to Houston from Washington at the same time he did.

Among them are James Baker, a long time Bush ally who won almost universal praise as Ford's campaign manager last year, and Pete Roussel, a former Bush aide at the GOP National Committee who worked at the Ford White House under two successive chiefs-of-staff, Rumsfeld and Richard Cheney.

Like Bush, Baker and Roussel insist it is premature to talk seriously about 1980. "It's fair to say that George would look at it," Baker said. "It's something he obviously hasn't ruled out and if he decided to do something, I'd certainly help."

"George has never said he is going to run for president," Roussel said, "but if you're asking whether I think he should, I'd say it would be hard to come up with a better guy. The only way we're going to beat Carter is with a guy from this area, from the South, and George has across-the-board appeal within the party."

Bush has more going for him than geography and talented supporters. He has unusually broad experience in elective office (two terms in the House), party politics (chairman of the GOP) and government service (ambassador to the United Nations as well as the China and CIA posts). A moderate conservative, he has admirers in both the Reagan and Rockefeller wings of the GOP.

His biggest apparent drawback — the lack of a visible base in the form of a Senate seat or other office — could prove to be an asset in disguise.

Our last two elected presidents, Carter and Richard M. Nixon, had been out of office for two years when they captured the White House. Both were able to devote full time to campaigning, unfettered by competing duties or demands on their time, and the grind paid off.

Their example has not been lost on anyone harboring the faintest presidential aspirations. Along with Bush, Reagan, Connally, Richardson and Rumsfeld are likely to be turning up anywhere and everywhere they can wangle invitations during the months and years ahead. If you thought the 1976 campaign was interminable, just wait 'til you see the next one.

Truck weight limits

If Missouri's trucking industry has its way, larger and heavier trucks soon will be rolling down our highways. The trucking lobbyists in Jefferson City are midway in their persuasion of our lawmakers.

The Missouri Senate shares sympathies with the lobbyists. And the House of Representatives is the next target. The Missouri Senate has given tentative approval, via an overwhelmingly favorable voice vote, to increase the limits on truck lengths and weights. Limits on trucks would be boosted from the present 55 feet to 60 feet. Weights would be increased from the current 73,280 pound limit to 80,000 pounds.

What does this mean for the average Missouri resident? If you are not an owner of a trucking firm you will not profit from the extended limits. The Missouri Highway Department has estimated the increased road damage due to the change would cost $15 million per year. The Senate truck bill would also create higher road fees thus raising an estimated $2.4 million annually. The difference between the damage and the added revenue would be paid by the taxpayers. If not, Missouri roads and bridges would continue to disintegrate.

As one St. Louis senator stated: "I've never heard from any constituents asking us to make the trucks bigger, to tear up the roads and cost them (millions)."

Not even considering the monetary costs, the Missouri motorist would be harassed by larger trucks. The Automobile Club of Missouri claims bigger vans would increase the probability of collisions and create other safety hazards.

Obviously the Missouri Senate is in the truck lobbyists' hand. And the measure will have to be stopped by the House. But under the atmosphere of controversy this measure takes each session, a rational and unemotional review of the bill should be made. With all the facts assembled, Missouri representatives should and hopefully will defeat the trucking bill. (Boonville Daily News)

No downtown theater

Downtown Sedalia has suffered a blow with the decision to close the Fox Theater.

The ostensible reason for the closing was that not enough good movies were available to justify three theaters in Sedalia. We are more inclined to take the view that enough good movies are being released today, but too few of them seem to find their way to Sedalia.

A downtown theater has been a fixture of the community for as long as we've had motion pictures. Sedalia needs one, and movie patrons deserve the choice provided by three theaters.

We hope Commonwealth Theaters will reconsider this unfortunate decision.

Merry-go-round

Gilmore's make-up: not stuff of legend

By JACK ANDERSON and
LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — Gary Gilmore died thumbing his nose at society. He gulped down some contraband whiskey and glared around the execution room. "Let's do it," he said tersely. Then a Utah firing squad did its grim duty.

Now a psychological study by his prison doctor suggests that Gilmore may have stage-managed his own dramatic exit. He certainly had the flair for it. He was bright enough, with a sense of drama and a way with words.

According to his psychological history, he was "extremely hostile and aggressive." He often boiled over with rage. But he also had a "predisposition for acting out behavior" and a strange ability to manipulate other people.

His confidential records reveal that he led hunger strikes and organized suicide pacts in other prisons. There was a suspicion that he sometimes persuaded inmates to take suicidal risks which he shrewdly avoided himself. For example, he once reportedly mixed water with the blood from his wrist wounds to make the bleeding look worse than it was.

These incidents had their dramatic effect. But the ultimate drama for Gary Gilmore was the death wait at Utah state prison. The chief medical officer, Dr. Calvin Reed Brown, told us that Gilmore was fully aware of the impact he was having on a nation debating its first execution in a decade.

The condemned man began a 25-day hunger strike to dramatize his demand for a speedy execution. But Dr. Brown, breaking official silence, said Gilmore complained of a headache and took medication every four hours. This contained enough sugar to keep him going, the doctor reported.

Gilmore also purchased $200 worth of groceries at the prison commissary and stashed the food in his cell. Throughout most of the hunger strike, he was confined in a recreation room near the cafeteria. He complained mightily about the location and demanded to be moved away from the cafeteria, lest the public get the impression his refusal to eat was a sham.

Another time, the doctor asked Gilmore during a physical examination whether he really wanted to die. "You know I do," replied the convict. "The papers have said it."

He appeared always to have one eye on the audience as he played out his macho role. One of his last requests was for a copy of the Newsweek cover story on him.

But for sheer drama, few scenarios could surpass the suicide pact he made with his fiancée, Nicole Barrett. He lured her into the pact, with romantic poetry and artful appeals. Then he made sure she would take a lethal dose, while he carefully limited his own overdose, Dr. Brown told us.

As an added precaution, Gilmore swallowed his Seconal capsules shortly before the regular prison rounds, so he would be discovered in time, according to the doctor. It turned out that he was found even earlier by a prison technician who stopped by his cell to inform him of a long-distance call from singer Johnny Cash.

Gilmore was revived, no worse for the experience, in time to bask in the latest publicity. But poor Nicole, discovered by neighbors in the nick of time, barely pulled through. Said Dr. Brown: "Gilmore was a manipulator of people, of even his closest friends."

The doomed man appeared nervous as he boarded the truck for the execution room, Dr. Brown recalled. Yet Gilmore maintained his macho manner until the end. He told the doctor that he hoped there were "no hard feelings" over his past conduct. Dr. Brown asked whether Gilmore had any last requests. "How about a bulletproof vest?" smiled the condemned killer.

Of course, the last has not been heard of Gary Gilmore. Promoters are preparing to immortalize him in print, on film and on T-shirts. Already, his death-throw romance with Nicole is taking on the dimensions of another Bonnie and Clyde legend.

But before the legend completely transcends reality, the true story should be told. The prison records show that he ran away from home at 12, that he was busted for auto theft at 14 and that he hung out with street gangs in Portland, Ore.

He constantly sought new thrills through both crime and sex. At an early age, he experimented with bisexual relations. Then he joined a homosexual group, though he had no homosexual tendencies, for "the ultimate in thrill seeking." This led to "serious personality defects," according to his psychological profile.

At age 18, he sought a new thrill by raping young girls. He also was in and out of jail. He began his suicidal theatrics in the 1960s. He slashed his wrists, tried to hang himself and took an overdose of pills. He was committed to the Oregon state hospital four times in 1963-64.

He refused to cooperate with prison psychiatrists. He rejected group therapy and gave flippant answers to the psychiatrists' questions. Yet he was not considered insane but merely "anti-social," with "severe personality disorder."

Said Dr. Brown: "Gilmore killed two young fathers in cold blood and committed practically every other crime in the book. Most of the other inmates at the prison were relieved to see him dead."

This is the folk hero, who is about to be immortalized.

Livestock farmers who think it might not rain soon enough this summer could buy some insurance by seeding oats for hay. Oats should be seeded in February and the variety is not too important. Any variety that is tall and makes hay is suitable — if it will germinate. You need to seed at least three bushel per acre and fertilize well, about like corn. Oats for hay should be mowed and baled in the milk stage. If it has rained by this time very likely you can go in and grow milo or soybeans.

Calving nutrition

Nutrition stress points in the reproductive cycles of beef cows and beef heifers are described by Homer Sewell, Extension beef cattle nutritionist, in a Beef Cow-Calf Manual.

Critical points for beef cows are the last 90 days of pregnancy and the first 90 days of lactation. These are the periods of biggest drain on the cow's body, for developing the fetus and nursing the newborn calf.

For heifers the critical times include an effort to produce rapid growth to puberty so they can be bred at an early age, 14 months for European breeds. Heifers also have greater needs during first pregnancy because they are still growing at the same time they are producing a fetus.

Suggestions in the publication, telling how to balance pasture and roughage supplies where needed to meet the needs of beef cattle at different stages in their life cycles.

Guides on buying protein supplements and the best use of urea supplements for cows and calves are other topics. How to use salt to limit the intake of self-fed protein and grain supplements is outlined. Supplements for cornstalks and other crop residues are also detailed.

The publication gives recommendations for the prevention of grass tetany, a nutrition disorder due to magnesium deficiency.

Other topics in the chapter on nutrition include rations for creep feeding calves, growing replacement heifers, wintering pregnant or lactating cows and the development and maintenance of herd bulls. Mineral and vitamin supplements are formulated for self-feeding with various forages.

The chapter is a concise, complete nutrition handbook for the beef herd owners. Other chapters cover improvement of cattle through breeding, cross-breeding systems, fitting herd to forage supply, pasture and forage production, herd health, management problems, shelter and equipment, financial considerations and marketing.

Copies may be obtained at Extension Centers.

Farm records

With all of the figures needed today, it is very important to organize them in a usable form to give you answers that you need. This is what a good record system will do.

The type of record system you use depends on what you want your records to tell you. Some record systems are designed to mainly give you information to fill out a tax return. Others are designed to tell you more about your business, such as what percent return did you make on your investment, what does it cost to produce an acre of corn or pound of pork.

There are many record systems available, all designed to meet a particular need. We have three systems available through the Extension Center.

A simplified income tax record book is the Missouri looseleaf record system. In addition to income tax information, it can help determine per cent earned on investment, net worth statement, and other cost and return items. New filler pages are available each year.

The computer farm analysis program provides detailed tax printouts, net worth statements, profit and loss statement, and with over-all farm and enterprise analysis. This is a real good system, but it does require accurate and complete record information to give you good answers. In other words, computers do not perform miracles. If wrong information goes in, wrong information comes out. We can add a limited number each year.

Rally in Goodland, Kan.

Farmers map national strategy

GOODLAND, Kan. (AP) — Karen Smith's forum for farmer support moves next week from a fieldhouse in this small western Kansas community to the Agriculture committees of the Senate and House in Washington.

About 1,800 farmers and ranchers from six states gathered here Saturday and endorsed several proposals, including one that would raise the government loan rate on wheat to $4.90 a bushel — $1.20 higher than the current market price.

Although Mrs. Smith, a plucky Burlington, Colo., farm wife, admitted Sunday that thoughts of Washington terrify her, she quickly added, "I'm ready to tell them our story and I think they'll listen."

The rally, sponsored by Mrs. Smith's "Partners in Action for Agriculture" group, called on farmers and lawmakers to take action to rescue American farmers from the squeeze of depressed market prices and rising production costs.

"Farmers, make a commitment to yourself, the person next to you and your neighbor at home that you'll do all you can to keep yourself informed and that you'll keep your legislators informed of your views with your letters," Mrs. Smith said.

Legislators must make decisions "not only on the basis of what gets votes, but on the basis of what is fair and good for the economy," she added. The audience included representatives of three states headed by Colorado Gov. Richard Lamm.

Mrs. Smith and Ben Duell, a Ruleton, Kan., farmer, will testify on behalf of "Partners" at the Senate Agriculture Committee hearing March 1 and the House committee hearing March 3. Congress is beginning work on new farm legislation.

In addition, she hopes to meet personally that week with senators and congressmen from urban areas who might not be aware of the farmers' plight.

Although the size of Saturday's audience was half of what had been anticipated, Mrs. Smith called the turnout for the second rally here in a month "fantastic."

"I really feel we've made a lot of progress, because three months ago when I went to senators and governors about this problem, they didn't realize there was a problem or a very serious one," she said. "They know it now."

Mrs. Smith said two-thirds of the 800 people at the conference responding to questionnaires favored five suggested proposals, including the increase in government loan rates for wheat and other commodities.

The proposal would increase the government loan rate from its current level of $2.25 a bushel for wheat to "parity," which is now about $4.90 a bushel. Parity is the price level farmers would need to have purchasing power equivalent to periods of farm prosperity in the early part of this century.

The current price of wheat in Kansas is $2.30 to $2.71 per bushel. Under the government commodity loan program, the government loans money to the farmers with their produce used as collateral.

Farmers estimate their cost of production at $3 to $3.50 per bushel for wheat.

Other proposals approved by the group call for an investigation to insure imported meat is subject to quota laws and is not entering the country illegally; re-enactment of the Sugar Act to guarantee a reasonable profit to American sugar producers; emergency loans through local banks to financially pressed producers, and an investigation to insure that farmers have the same access to government marketing information as commodity boards of trade and large grain exporters.

"The questionnaires give me an idea of what the people want, and I'll use the results when I testify," said Mrs. Smith, whose husband, Larry, operates a wheat and sugar beet farm near Burlington, just across the state line from Goodland.

Sen. Floyd Haskell, D-Colo., warned the farmers that there is no realistic way a new farm bill could be implemented in time to solve their problems and said "administrative action is absolutely essential."

One immediate action farmers seek is for Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland to use his authority to raise the loan support level for certain commodities.

Although the farmers' hopes hinge on congressional action, Mrs. Smith said, urban America must first become aware of the situation.

"Our Urban brothers have a distorted picture of us," she told the gathering Saturday. "They see us in straw hats and overalls, putting along behind Old Betsy in the hot summer sun. They see us as dummies, in love with Mother Earth, who neither need nor expect a profit to survive."

"I'm not sure if we'll ever be able to convince some of our urban neighbors that we have blood in our veins and hopes, and dreams, just like they do."

"I'm not sure if we'll ever convince them that milk comes from a cow, eggs come from chickens and hamburgers aren't manufactured by Ronald McDonald."

Duell, the Ruleton farmer, noted that 18 bills to be considered by the House Agriculture Committee involve the food stamp program while only six deal with farm credit. He said this reflected the influence of urban congressmen.

Governor Lamm told the farmers that although he cannot solve their problems, "perhaps we can help."

"Do not suffer in silence. There is too much to do, too much of your story to take abroad," he said.

Kansas was represented by Lt. Gov. Shelby Smith and William Ditsman, state secretary of agriculture. Glen Kreuscher, Nebraska director of agriculture, represented Gov. J.J. Exon.

At least half of those who attended were from Colorado, while Kansas, Oklahoma, and Nebraska were heavily represented. There were also farmers from Wyoming and

New Mexico. Most were wheat growers or livestock producers.

The theme of the two-hour conference was reflected by a display near the speaker's platform comprised of a bushel of wheat that sells for $2.20 placed beside a stack of 66 loaves of bread, which is the potential output from that bushel.

The bread would sell for a total of $3.24 and as one speaker pointed out regarding the price discrepancy, "As farmers, we think this is unjust, unfair and totally out of line."

To assure that the U.S. grades for swine and pork are of maximum benefit to the industry, the grades for slaughter hogs are correlated directly with the grades for pork carcasses. Similarly, the grades for feeder pigs also are directly correlated with the grades for slaughter hogs. Thus, a U.S. No. 1 feeder pig, for example, can develop into a U.S. No. 1 slaughter hog, which in turn should produce a U.S. No. 1 carcass.

The feeder pig grades are based on two general factors: logical slaughter potential and thriftiness. All thrifty feeder pigs that will gain weight rapidly and efficiently are grouped according to their logical slaughter potential, into either the U.S. No. 1, 2, 3 or 4 grade. Unthrifty feeder pigs are labeled U.S. Utility or U.S. Cull depending on their degree of unthriftness.

Since their development, the feeder pig grades have become an important guideline in segregating pigs at feeder pig sales. These sales have been increasing in number and size during the past few years and are becoming an important part of the marketing segment of the swine industry.

FFA chapters being recognized this week

The week of Feb. 19-26 is being recognized across the country as national Future Farmers of America (FFA) week, it was announced by State Fair Community College high school FFA adviser Cliff McBride.

The primary purpose of FFA week, McBride stated, is to give people unfamiliar with agriculture a better insight into the universal importance of agriculture. FFA itself is designed to develop competent, aggressive agricultural leadership and to strengthen students' confidence in themselves and their work.

A total of 43 members belong to the local State Fair FFA Club. They include students from Smith-Cotton High School and high schools in Ottumwa, Smithton, Warsaw, Lincoln, LaMonte, Hughesville and Green Ridge. Serving with McBride as chapter adviser is SFCC vocational agriculture instructor Bob Morrow. The group was formed in 1975.

In addition to the numerous school year FFA activities, the organization conducts a state FFA summer camp and also sponsors the children's barnyard exhibit at the Missouri State Fair in August.

Program to begin in area

WARRENSBURG — Dale Hagerman, family farm management specialist, joined the University of Missouri Extension staff of the Show-Me region to begin a pilot program in family farm development, according to C. W. Browning, area director.

Hagerman will be working with 50 families within the four-county area. The objective of family farm development is to provide an educational program that will help beginning and developing farm families acquire and combine resources into an economic farm business unit that is consistent with the individual family's goals.

Joining the University of Missouri Extension staff in 1966 as a farm management specialist in Platte County, Hagerman moved to the South Central Ozarks region in 1971 as farm management specialist and supervisor of the small farm development program.

Browning said that Hagerman's office is in the University of Missouri Extension Center Annex, 305 North Holden, Warrensburg.

Denver concern

Singer John Denver sat on the sidelines in Denver, Colo., Sunday where representatives from 17 western states and Secretary of the Interior Cecil Andrus discussed the drought. The entertainer, who makes his home in Aspen, Colo., says he is planning to "speak to the people" about energy and water conservation.

(UPI)

Windmills tested for rural energy

ROCKY FLATS, Colo. (AP) — A program to increase the use of wind-powered generators to produce electric power for private consumers is under way at Rockwell International's Rocky Flats Plant.

If successful, the program could help lead to the rebirth of windmills on the rural landscape, with the windmills generating electricity to pump water, heat henhouses and light the homes of farm families. The program has the backing of the Energy Research and Development Administration.

In the project begun nine months ago, researchers at the plant northwest of Denver are evaluating six windmills — now called wind energy conversion systems — for performance and durability. Two of the systems are American-made.

"For all the antiquity of wind systems, there is very little real engineering data about them," said Louis Divone, chief of ERDA's Wind Systems Branch. "Our objective is to try to accelerate the commercial development and use of small wind systems."

The wind generator itself, he said, represents only about 40 per cent of the system cost.

Six pesticide sessions for farmers scheduled

Six training sessions to qualify farmers to become certified private pesticide applicators have been scheduled, according to David Lindell, area agronomy specialist.

Sessions will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Wellington School Vo-Ag Department; at 1:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Feb. 28 at the County Court room in Clinton; at 7:30 p.m. March 10 at the high school in Alma; at 1:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. March 14 at the Community Building in Holden; and at 1:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. March 16 at the Central Missouri Electric Cooperative Building here on North Highway 65. A tentative date of March 7 also has been set for the Knob Noster Elementary School.

There will be no fee and applicants will not have to pass a test. The Missouri Pesticide Act of 1974 requires that private applicators be certified if they need a "restricted use" pesticide. While there is no list of "restricted use" pesticides at present, the Environmental Protection Agency is working on such a classification. It is possible that pesticides will be classified as "general use" or "restricted use" by late summer.

Team effort pays off

Balanced attack key to Smith-Cotton win

By KIRK WEBER
Sports Editor

The Smith-Cotton Tigers' 68-57 homecoming win over Blue Springs was, plain and simple, a team victory.

There were no big stars, but there were a lot of small ones. James Smith starred with ballhandling that helped thwart the Wildcat press. Mark Benson displayed a soft shooting touch that garnered 12 points, including the first six of the game for Smith-Cotton.

And there were others. David Albright, Sam Downs, Dallas Smith and Sam Hargrave all made big plays, though none scored more than eight points.

In all, 10 Tiger players made it into the scoring column.

It was a game the Tigers very easily could have played poorly, coming, as it did, on the heels of Friday night's loss to Jefferson City. And head coach Dave Porter took note of that fact after the game.

"We came off a very disappointing loss in a game that, for all practical purposes, we gave away. It's been a season of close calls, and losses we felt we could have won. For our kids to come back and play the way they played, that is the greatest compliment you can give to a team."

It was by no means an easy game for Smith-Cotton.

The first half was a back-and-forth struggle that saw the score tied nine times, and the lead change hands 10 times.

Benson's six points, sandwiched around a pair of free throws by the Wildcats' Jon Sundvold gave S-C an early four point lead, the largest they would have until just before the end of the half.

When Joe Rapp hit a basket at the buzzer ending the first period, it tied the score at 14-all.

In the second period, neither team could manage more than a two-point margin until late.

Then, with the Tigers behind 28-27, Hargrave hit a two-pointer that gave Smith-Cotton the lead for good. Albright followed with a basket, was fouled and made the free throw to make the score 32-28.

A free throw for Blue Springs and two for the Tigers made the halftime score 35-30.

Smith-Cotton moved out to a seven point lead early in the second half, but saw it cut to two with just under five minutes to go in the third quarter.

Then Dallas Smith, Downs, and James Smith strung together six points and suddenly the Tigers led by eight with just over 3:30 left.

The Wildcats pulled within six, but that was as close as they could come.

The Tigers held a nine to 11 point lead for almost all of the fourth quarter, as the game became more physical and the fouls started to pile up. In all, 17 fouls were called in the fourth quarter, including one technical on Blue Springs.

Better free throw shooting might have kept the Wildcats in the game. They missed seven fourth quarter free throws, four of those on the front end of a one-and-one.

But the Tigers maintained their poise and didn't let another close one slip away.

Skip McGuire led Smith-Cotton with 17 points and fourteen rebounds.

The Tigers dominated the boards, grabbing 42 rebounds to just 19 for Blue Springs.

Sundvold was the leading scorer for Blue Springs with 21 points, just over his 20.1 per game average.

On the night, Smith-Cotton hit 28 of 46 points for a commendable 60.8 per cent.

Porter praised his team as a whole, pointing out the contribution made by the bench. He even had a good word for the hometown crowd.

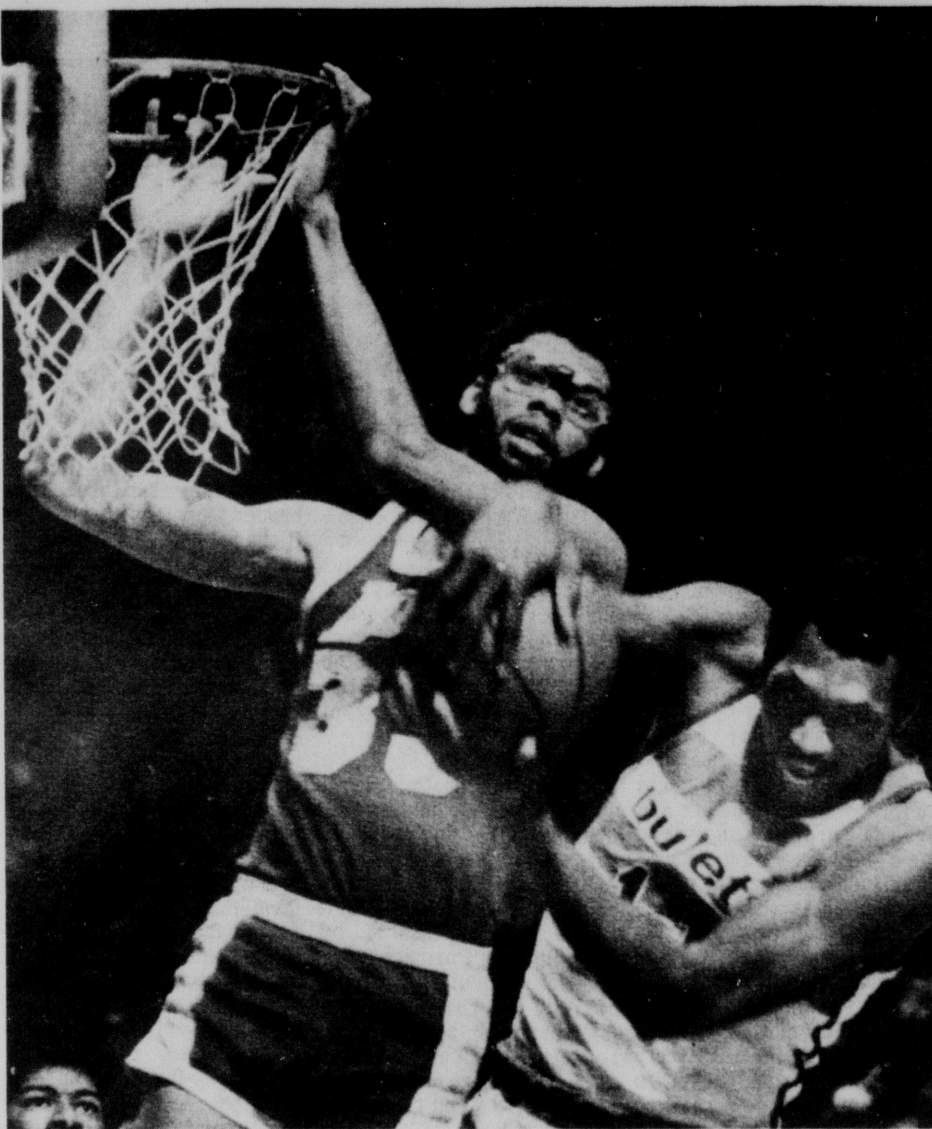

"After the ballgame last night (Friday), I didn't know if anyone would come back, and maybe they came because the girls were going to be crowned queen. But that had to be a shot in the arm for them (the team). They were great."

Scoring

Blue Springs (57) Jon Sundvold 21, Joe Rapp 14, Mike Roberts 12, Brian Middleton 2, Stormy Floyd 8.

Smith-Cotton (68) — James Smith 8, David Hathaway 3, David Albright 5, Sam Downs 8, Skip McGuire 17, Dallas Smith 3, Mark Benson 12, Mark Waters 1, Sam Hargrave 7, Kevin Buller 4.

Sedalia teams stumble in tourney final

Slow first quarters were fatal for both of Sedalia Junior High's basketball teams, as both the seventh and eighth grade squads lost championship games in the Sedalia Junior High Invitational Basketball Tournament Saturday.

The eighth grade squad fell behind 19-5 in the first period against Boonville, on the way to a 52-43 defeat. Mike Potter scored 14 points in leading Boonville to the championship.

James Stewart was high man for Sedalia with 21 points.

It was a similar story in the seventh grade game, as Sedalia fell behind 15-5 against Warrensburg's seventh grade.

Sedalia tried to rally, building a 14-7 fourth quarter bulge, before Warrensburg escaped with a 42-41 victory.

Darrell Coffman and Jay Little were high scorers for Warrensburg with 15 points each. For Sedalia, Harold Craig scored 19.

In an eighth grade third place game Saturday, Holden downed Raytown-Pittman 29-24. Rex Elkins led the Holden squad with 15 points. Rod Miller scored six for Raytown.

Purtzer captures crown

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There's a growing cadre of bright young men who are giving golf a new look — perhaps even a new spelling.

In the last 13 months, 12 players have scored their initial tour victories. The "z's" are very prominent.

It started in the team championship, the last event of the 1976 season, when rookie Bill Kratzert was the key figure in a triumph with Woody Blackburn.

This year Bruce Lietzke dominated things, winning two events, finishing second and fourth in others and collecting $123,000 before he had to skip a week because of the illness of his father.

With him out, Tom Purtzer and Fuzzy Zoeller moved to the fore. Purtzer sinking a critical, par-saving putt on the 72nd hole Sunday for a one-stroke victory over Lanny Wadkins in the $200,000 Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open.

As an indication of the change in the game, Purtzer's first four triumph lowered to 25.4 the average age of the winners this season and marked the first time since 1970 that the tour had finished its western swing without Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer or Johnny Miller winning at least one event.

They didn't even come close. They had no top 10 finishes. Miller and Palmer missed the cut for the final 36 holes more often than they made it. Nicklaus played only twice and missed once. The rest of the game's more established players suffered similar fates.

And while the names that have dominated the game so long were suffering and struggling, such players as Lietzke and Purtzer, along with Fuzzy Zoeller (third in this tournament) and Bobby Walzel (winner of $18,103 in the West) were moving into prominence.

Purtzer, an obscure, non-winning longshot, had to survive the rigors of the Monday morning qualifying round even to gain a spot in the tournament field with such names as Palmer, Billy Casper, Gary Player and Tom Watson — all of whom missed the cut for the final two rounds.

Purtzer prevailed with a gritty, hard-won, one-over-par 72 in the last round.

Kansas St., Oklahoma latest Big Eight rivals

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Fresh from his 88-77 conquest of Missouri, Jack Hartman, Kansas State basketball coach, was worried about emotions and Oklahoma.

"We've got to be prepared to play well against OU," Hartman said of Wednesday night's opponent, which will wrap up the regular season. "They've got one great team."

By whipping Missouri Saturday, the Wildcats nailed down at least a share of their first Big Eight championship since 1972-73. But the Sooners, who pounded Iowa State, 94-68, are in a position to win their first since 1948-49.

"They've got a great emotional motivator all right," Hartman agreed.

The Sooners moved into a second-place tie with Missouri at 9-4, and since the Tigers can reasonably be expected to prevail against the 2-11 Cyclones Wednesday, a three-way tie would probably result if Oklahoma slips past Kansas State.

In the other two games Saturday, Kansas clung to a first-division spot by downing Nebraska, 74-66, and Colorado's Emmett Lewis scored 27 points to lead the Buffs past Oklahoma State, 63-52.

Unlike past years, the winner of the conference title does not automatically qualify for the NCAA tournament. The winner of the first annual Big Eight post-season tournament does.

Conceivably, Iowa State could suddenly heat up and win the tournament and go to the NCAA.

But if such an unlikely event should come to pass, the Big Eight might also gain an at-large berth. The post season tournament begins this Saturday with the top four finishers at home against the bottom four—No. 1 playing No. 8, No. 2 playing No. 7, etc. The four winners then finish the tournament at Kemper Arena in Kansas City next week.

"Before, I was against it," Missouri's Kim Anderson said of the postseason tourney experiment.

"But after today, I'm definitely for it. As it turned out, it might work to our advantage."

But might Hartman's Wildcats suffer an emotional letdown after honing themselves to such a needle-point edge against Missouri?

"It's a concern, all right," Hartman said. "We'll talk about it, recognize it as something we've got to contend with. But we haven't had too many games that haven't been emotional. We haven't been able to hide from people."

Oklahoma Coach Dave Bliss isn't expecting a Wildcat swoon.

"I doubt if there'll be any emotional letdown, either way," he said. "I've never seen a Jack Hartman team have that problem. Not really."

The Wildcats played probably their finest game of the year Saturday, rallying from an 11-point deficit at one time in the first half.

North Carolina survives weekend of cage upsets

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Road games in the Atlantic Coast Conference take a lot out of coaches. It's a good thing that North Carolina's Dean Smith has a Ford to give him a lift.

Phil Ford, one of the slickest, quickest guards in the country, helped accelerate North Carolina into a big halftime lead, then put a stop sign up on Virginia Sunday.

The result was a tenuous 66-64 college basketball victory for the 13th-ranked Tar Heels.

"We did not tell our players to go to Ford especially," said Smith. "It's just a tendency for players to do that."

Ford scored 16 of his 21 points in the first half to stake the Tar Heels to a 36-24 advantage. Later, he drove the Cavaliers to distraction by operating Smith's famous "Four Corner" offense that aborted a Virginia rally.

Mike O'Koren also gave the North Carolina machine a push at the end, scoring 10 of the Tar Heels' last 13 points.

In another major game Sunday, Purdue defeated Indiana 86-78 in the Big Ten.

Sunday's regionally-televised games followed a rash of upsets Saturday. In the worst day of the season collectively for nationally-ranked teams, nine of The AP's Top 20 suffered upsets.

Oregon stunned No. 3 UCLA 64-55; No. 4 Alabama was beaten by No. 14 Tennessee 92-89; No. 7 Wake Forest lost to Virginia Tech 98-97 in overtime; Memphis State defeated No. 8 Louisville 87-77; ninth-ranked Marquette was surprised by Wichita State 75-64; Rutgers shocked No. 10 Cincinnati 89-70; Duquesne nipped No. 15 Detroit 95-88 in double overtime; Utah whipped 17th-ranked Arizona 76-61 and Appalachian State tripped No. 19 VMI 62-58.

Elsewhere, top-ranked San Francisco beat Pepperdine 81-73; No. 2 Kentucky trimmed LSU 90-76; No. 5 Michigan turned back No. 12 Minnesota 89-70; No. 6 Nevada-Las Vegas whipped Portland State 112-96; No. 11 Arkansas stopped Texas 73-61; No. 18 Clemson defeated North Carolina State 68-66 and No. 20 Syracuse walloped St. John's 79-55.

Eugene Parker's 18 points paced a balanced attack that carried Purdue past Indiana. The Hoosiers, who have had several players walk off the team this year, were further troubled by the injury of center Kent Benson. The All-America player injured his back late in Sunday's game and may be lost to Indiana for the rest of the season.

Greg Ballard scored 28 points to lead Oregon's upset of UCLA. The decision had historical significance in the Pacific-8 Conference, marking the first time that Oregon had ever beaten UCLA twice in one season. It also marked the first time since 1962-63 that a Pac-8 foe had whipped UCLA twice in one year.

A 26-point performance by Ernie Grunfeld and 21 each from Bernard King and Mike Jackson powered Tennessee over Alabama, virtually dashing C. M. Newton's Southeastern Conference title hopes.

Virginia Tech beat Wake Forest as Duke Thorpe scored a basket and then sank a pair of foul shots with 38 seconds left in overtime.

Cole Camp Jr. High takes tourney crown

LaMONTE — Cole Camp lived up to its number one seed in the Kaysinger Conference Junior High Tournament, as they took the tourney title with a 57-36 win over Sacred Heart Saturday.

Cole Camp took charge early, rolling up a 15-6 lead at the end of the first quarter, expanding that to 38-15 at the half.

Jerry Steffens was Cole Camp's leading scorer with 14 points, followed by Curtis Luetjen with 13. Derek Moriarity scored 10 points for Sacred Heart.

The third place game was much closer, as Stover rallied from a 31-26 deficit at the end of the third quarter and beat Warsaw 37-36.

Don Viebrock and Mike Wells both scored 10 points for Stover, while Warsaw was topped by Mark Porter's 14.

In the consolation final, Lincoln beat LaMonte 39-30. Roger Rowan led Lincoln with 12 points, and Billy Brewster and Neil Gerkin added 11 each. For LaMonte, Rick Harvey scored 11 points, and Mark Eichholz added 10.

The Doctor revives failing Sixers

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

A message for Philadelphia basketball fans: when there is a Doctor in the house, the patient is not dead until the final buzzer.

The Philadelphia 76ers trailed 89-65 with 22 seconds left in the third period and by 13 with just 3:19 remaining in Sunday's game against Cleveland. Some fans at the Spectrum in Philadelphia gave up.

"A lot of people left with two minutes to go," said Julius Erving, the marvelous Dr. J. "I noticed that. They'll be surprised when they read tomorrow that we won."

The 76ers, with Erving scoring 13 of his 34 points in the fourth quarter, came back and won, 112-111, on a pair of free throws by Lloyd Free with 18 seconds left.

Philadelphia Coach Gene Shue described the comeback as incredible, but not Erving, who scored seven of his team's last nine points.

"I've seen teams come back on us," said Erving. "So why not us? In this game, you never say die until it's over."

Elsewhere in the NBA Sunday, the Boston Celtics nipped the Golden State Warriors 114-

112, then Denver Nuggets defeated the Atlanta Hawks 111-95, the New York Knicks beat the New York Nets 100-80, the San Antonio Spurs whipped the New Orleans Jazz 129-109, the Los Angeles Lakers beat the Washington Bullets 108-101, the Detroit Pistons nipped the Phoenix Suns 109-107, and the Indiana Pacers routed the Seattle SuperSonics 135-115.

The 76ers trailed 107-95 with 2:40 remaining but outscored the Cavaliers 17-4, handing Cleveland its 19th road defeat in the last 22 games.

George McGinnis added 24 points and Doug Collins 21 for Philadelphia, while Austin Carr topped Cleveland with 26. Celtics 114, Warriors 112 Boston scored 10 straight points in the final minutes to win. John Havlicek's jumper from the corner put the Celtics in front with four minutes remaining, then Boston added four more baskets and went ahead by nine.

Nuggets 111, Hawks 95 Denver led by just two points heading into the final period but won going away as David Thompson and Dan Issel each scored 28 points. John Drew netted 33 for Atlanta.

Lakers 108, Bullets 101 Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 17 points, staking Los Angeles to a 60-44 halftime lead, then teamed with Lucius Allen for the last 13 points as the Lakers turned back a Washington comeback. Abdul-Jabbar finished with 35 points, while Elvin Hayes scored 29 for the Bullets.

Knicks 100, Nets 90 The Knicks, who broke open the game with a run of 13 straight points in the second half, got 22 points and 22 rebounds from Bob McAdoo and 18 points and 15 rebounds from reserve forward Tom McMillen.

Spurs 129, Jazz 109 Coby Dietrick scored 16 of his team-high 24 points in the fourth quarter and Larry Kenon added 22 points for San Antonio, which led all the way.

Pistons 109, Suns 107 Bob Lanier's hook shot with 16 seconds left broke a tie and gave Detroit its victory over Phoenix. Lanier, who scored 24 points, drove in against Dennis Awtry for the winning basket.

Pacers 135, SuperSonics 115 Billy Knight poured in 38 points and five teammates scored in double figures as Indiana routed Seattle.

Hickman Mills girls 3A champs

By The Associated Press

Clyde Cozad would rather not be reminded that his Hickman Mills Cougars lost Carol Hudgins for a while before finally whipping DuBourg, 40-34 in the Missouri Girls' 3A basketball title game Saturday.

"Yes, I was concerned," Cozad said in reference to his benching Miss Hudgins, his star player, when she picked up her fourth foul with 5:04 to play.

"I don't play without Carol. That's the first time this year that she had to go out of the game with fouls, but that's what happens when you play aggressively sometimes."

Miss Hudgins returned in the fourth period and eventually scored 10 points to share scoring honors with Kim Cox and Doris Woolery. Lynn Hrdlicka of DuBourg took game honors with 12 points. In the third-place game Saturday at Rolla, Lindbergh crushed Highland, 60-41.

In the 2A title game at Warrensburg, Julie Chadwick tossed in 17 points and paced Hamilton to a 40-37 victory over Canton.

In 1A, Northeast Nodaway won its second straight title by pouncing on Belle, 41-17.

Hamilton, ending the year undefeated in 29 games, saw Canton rally to within two points, 39-37, in the final 15 seconds. But Vickie Warren's free throw eight seconds later provided the winning margin.

The Northeast Nodaway-Belle game was a sentimental, family affair. Belle Coach Nancy Schmitz played at Northeast Nodaway under the present coach, Claude Sampson. And seven members of the Northeast Nodaway team are cousins of the Belle coach.

Stockton beats injured Connors

By The Associated Press

Jimmy Connors is usually good enough to beat most tennis players on one leg.

But he wasn't Sunday. The generally recognized international king of tennis suffered a torn knee muscle in the final of a World Championship Tennis Tournament at Toronto and as a result, had to concede his match against Dick Stockton.

"I really wanted to continue playing," said Stockton, "but I could see that Jimmy was in a lot of pain. Up to that point, I was playing well and I thought I could have won the match."

"But I didn't want it to end this way. I'd have rather lost than to win this way."

A WCT spokesman said Connors suffered a tear in the vestus medialis muscle in his left knee and will be sidelined for at least two weeks.

Top seed upset

NORCROSS, Ga. (AP) — Mary Struthers of La Jolla, Calif., upset top-seeded Laura DuPont of Matthews, N.C. 6-2, 6-0 Sunday and won the singles title in the international tennis tournament.

Miss Struthers earned $2,800 and Miss DuPont received $1,400.

The finalists, along with defeated semifinalists Mary Carillo and Mariana Simionescu, qualified for this week's tournament at Detroit.

In another professional tennis final at Los Angeles, Chris Evert defeated Martina Navratilova 6-2, 2-6, 6-1 in a battle of two of the world's top women players. Miss Evert, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., rated No. 1 in the world, won $20,000 for beating the Czechoslovakian defector, who is rated No. 3.

At San Jose, Calif., eighth-seeded Sandy Mayer of Palo Alto, Calif., beat 40-year-old Australian Roy Emerson 6-2, 6-4 in semifinal action at the $50,000 Grand Prix Tennis Tournament. Mayer earned a shot in tonight's final against Jiri Hrebec of Czechoslovakia, who won his final berth with a 6-1, 6-4 victory over 1975 NCAA champion Billy Martin of Palos Verdes, Calif.

Mary Struthers of La Jolla, Calif., defeated top-seeded Laura DuPont of Matthews, N.C., 6-2, 6-0 and won the $2,800 top prize in an international tennis tournament for young players at Norcross, Ga.

Third-seeded Matt Mitchell of Palo Alto, Calif., won the men's singles title and Barbara Hallquist of Arcadia, Calif. won the women's singles crown in the U.S. Tennis Association national amateur championships at Salisbury, Md. Mitchell defeated Jai DiLouie of Dallas 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, and Miss Hallquist beat Anne Smith, also of Dallas, 1-6, 7-6, 6-2.

Tie puts smile on goalie's face

By The Associated Press Birmingham Bulls goalie John Garrett was pleased enough with a 2-2 tie against Indianapolis to offer a humorous observation on a fight he had just witnessed.

After the Bulls' Gordie Gallant and the Racers' Kim Clackson had battled early in the third period, Garrett said, "This one I would give to Gord in a split decision. Seven rounds to five, with three even."

The fight was not as close as the game, which was tied on a power play goal by the Racers' Mike Parizeau midway through the third period. Parizeau capped a barrage of shots on Garrett by sending in the goal that brought the Racers even.

In other World Hockey Association games Sunday night, the Cincinnati Stingers edged the Phoenix Roadrunners 4-3, the Winnipeg Jets clipped the Edmonton Oilers 4-2, and the New England Whalers blanked the Calgary Cowboys 5-0.

Birmingham took a 1-0 lead at 9:17 of the opening period when Paul Henderson netted a short shot for his 17th goal of the season. But the Racers tied the score nearly four minutes later on Mark Lomenda's goal.

Lou Nistico deflected in a shot at 13:42 of the second period, just as the Racers' Dave Inkpen was leaving the penalty box. Then, after Gallant had won his split decision, Parizeau tied the score.

Stingers 4, Roadrunners 3 Dennis Abgrall's goal with 1:52 remaining won the game for Cincinnati, which trailed 3-0 in the first period after Jan Popiel scored twice and Frank Hughes once for Phoenix.

Jets 4, Oilers 2 Ron Ward scored two goals and Joe Daley made some spectacular third-period saves Sunday night, lifting Winnipeg past Edmonton.

Whalers 5, Cowboys 0 Mike Antonovich scored two goals. Dave Keon set up three and Bruce Landman recorded his first shutout of the season, leading New England past Calgary.

Maple Leafs score in clusters

By The Associated Press The Toronto Maple Leafs have been scoring goals in clusters lately. They scored 10 against the Washington Capitals nine days ago, and reached that total again Sunday night, beating the Chicago Black Hawks 10-8.

It was just an average hockey game: nine goals in the third period — four within 1 minute, 36 seconds — five ties, four major fighting penalties and a gross misconduct penalty.

The Maple Leafs, completing a stretch of seven games in nine days, closed out the string with a flourish. Errol Thompson scored three goals, while George Ferguson and Lanny McDonald each had two, leading Toronto's triumph in the wacky contest.

"If I knew what would make the game deteriorate like this, or why, I could make a lot of money," said Chicago Coach

Bill White after goalie Gilles Villeneuve was strafed for the 10 goals on 38 shots. "Our defense was shoddy at best."

"In all my years in the National Hockey League, and that's 30 years, I have never seen a game like this," said Maple Leafs Coach Red Kelly. "Fortunately, though, we had the last shot and we won the game."

"We've played seven games in nine nights, five of them on the road, and I think our guys were a little on the weary side," Kelly continued.

They were not too tired to score five times in the nine-goal third period which decided the contest. Defenseman Ian Turnbull, who earlier this season scored five goals in one game, closed out the scoring with 32 seconds remaining — skimming a 160-foot shot into the empty Chicago net.

In the other NHL games Sunday, the Philadelphia Flyers downed the Buffalo Sabres 4-2, the Pittsburgh Penguins beat the Pittsburgh Penguins 4-1, the New York Rangers trimmed the Detroit Red Wings 3-2, the Washington Capitals and New York Islanders tied 2-2, and the Colorado Rockies beat the Minnesota North Stars 3-2.

Flyers 4, Sabres 2 The Sabres saw one streak continue and two streaks end against the Flyers. The ones that ended were a six-game winning string and five consecutive unbeaten performances by rookie goaltender Don Edwards.

Defenseman Andre Dupont scored twice and Tom Bladen once during a first-period spurt which wiped out a 2-0 Buffalo lead built on goals by Jim Lorentz and Rene Robert.

Penguins 4, Barons 1 Ron Schock scored a goal and set up another, carrying Pittsburgh past Cleveland in what may have been the Barons' last game. The team may strike Tuesday if its owner does not come up with all due back pay.

Rangers 3, Red Wings 2 Phil Esposito celebrated his 35th birthday with two goals, including the game-winner, and defenseman Mike McEwen added three assists, leading the Rangers past Detroit.

Islanders 2, Capitals 2 Third-period goals by Hartland Monahan and Jack Lynch lifted Washington to a comeback tie against the Islanders. Clark Gillies tallied twice for the Islanders.

Rockies 3, North Stars 2 Colorado's victory increased its lead over Minnesota to five points in the battle for the final playoff spot in the Smythe Division.

Panels offer alternative to complaining consumers

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Your washing machine is on the blink. You've complained to the store and written to the manufacturer. Nothing helped. What's next?

For a growing number of consumers, the answer is an industry-sponsored complaint panel. The panels offer an alternative to small claims courts and arbitration programs run by the Better Business Bureau.

The National Association of Mutual Insurance Agents and the federal Office of Consumer Affairs recently announced the establishment of an experimental program of voluntary mediation of consumer complaints about property and casualty insurance.

The one-year project is known as Insurance Consumer Action Panel — ICAP. The panel will handle complaints referred to it through an arrangement with the insurance commissioners of Michigan, Mississippi, Montana and Utah.

Similar complaint-handling procedures already exist in the appliance, furniture and auto industries. All the programs contain the acronym "CAP." Here's a rundown on the exact names and how to contact the groups:

APPLIANCES: MACAP — Major Appliance Consumer Action Panel, Virginia Habeeb, chairman, 20 Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill., 60606; toll-free telephone number, 800-621-0477.

FURNITURE: FICAP — Furniture Industry Consumer Advisory Panel, Nancy High, executive director, Box 951, High Point, N.C., 27261; telephone, 919-885-5065.

AUTOS: There are local AutoCAPs — Automotive Consumer Action Panels — in various areas of the country. To find out if there is one near you, contact Alan Marlette, National Automobile Dealers Association, 8400 West Park Drive, McLean, Va., 22101; telephone, 703-821-7070. Here's how the panels work: Suppose you have a complaint about a product. First try the retailer who sold it to you. If that doesn't work, go to the manufacturer. If your problem is still unresolved, try the appropriate CAP. When the panel gets a complaint, a staff member goes to the manufacturer to ask for a further check into the problem. If the consumer is unsatisfied with the result, the case is presented to the panel which hears evidence from both sides and recommends a settlement. The recommendations are not binding, but spokesmen for the panels say the suggestions are generally accepted.

The ground rules differ slightly from industry to industry: the appliance group generally does not deal with items still covered by warranties; the furniture panel, in contrast, only handles complaints about products that are less than a year old.

The experimental insurance panel will try to focus on the types of complaints which occur most frequently, but it will not deal with premium rates or underwriting standards. Don't write to ICAP if you think your insurance costs too much.

For further information about the insurance program, contact Patricia Borowski, National Association of Mutual Insurance Agents, 1511 K St., N.W., Washington, D.C., 20005; telephone, 202-628-1300.

Chicago primary crowded

CHICAGO (AP) — Nine candidates have crowded into the April 19 Democratic and Republican mayoral primary elections, bringing with them political passions and campaign mummery seldom seen in the sober days of the late Richard Daley.

The effervescent mood may go flat fast, however. The same efficient, professional vote-getters who worked the wards for Daley are now behind Acting Mayor Michael Bilandic, the candidate of the regular Democratic organization.

Bilandic, 53, the former alderman of Daley's ward, is unlikely to generate many sparks as he plods toward his probable victories in the primary and June 7 general election.

Bilandic, with substantial backing from the business and financial communities, has adopted a strategy of trying to seem as much as possible like Daley, who died Dec. 20 of a heart attack.

"Good government is good politics, as somebody used to say around here," he tells newsmen.

Despite a promise when he took office not to run in the primary, Bilandic soon jumped in, reportedly at the urging of the late mayor's son, state Sen. Richard Daley, and the 11th Ward forces who have held the patronage at City Hall for decades.

Bilandic's decision has not stopped the challenge of eight political extremists.

Edward Hanrahan, 55, the tough-talking former Cook County state's attorney who wrangled endlessly with reporters in the days when he was Daley's protege, now proclaims himself the "fun" candidate.

Hanrahan, fell from grace after the 1969 raid in which Black Panther leader Fred Hampton was killed by investigators from his office. He then was ousted from the Illinois attorney's office by voters and failed in bids for the U.S. House and as mayor.

College graduates expected to exceed demand into '80s

NEW YORK (AP) — Young workers from now until at least the mid-1980s, and probably well beyond that time, will have to keep their competitive instincts razor sharp.

The reason: competition. The cause: The desire of young Americans to obtain college degrees.

U.S. Labor Department studies continue to show that the supply of college graduates will exceed demand through the mid-1980s, forcing many workers to settle for less-skilled jobs.

As a consequence, competition is likely to be stiff not only among college graduates, but between college graduates and those with less education, thus exerting pressure throughout all occupational levels.

It is estimated that about 18 per cent of the requirements for college graduates through the mid-1980s may come from upgrading educational requirements, that is, by requiring a college education where a high school education might previously have been sufficient.

If the estimates are borne out, it could mean that millions of young people will consider themselves underemployed, convinced they are working far below the limits of their talent.

For those lower on the job ladder it could mean being pushed down a rung into positions requiring minimal skills and, most likely, offering minimum income.

The education-job equation isn't expected to apply uniformly. Even when armed with a college degree, a youngster might find he or she does not have a strong competitive advantage.

"In the case of crafts, persons with vocational training will be in greater demand than those with a baccalaureate degree," writes Chester Levine, a labor economist, in the government "Occupational Outlook Handbook."

Levine also foresees the situation where "employers will be reluctant to hire college graduates as operatives or laborers because of the high risk of job dissatisfaction."

In addition, he continues, "college graduates are likely to face increasing competition for paraprofessional and technical jobs."

Nevertheless, it remains generally axiomatic, labor authorities say, that the greater the educational achievement the more secure and better-paying is the job.

With 13.1 million college graduates expected to enter the labor market in the years 1974-1985, to fight for an estimated 12.1 million job openings, the situation isn't hard to discern.

About the only answer to the situation seems to be that youngsters should be encouraged to seek more education in order to remain competitive.

But even that answer is no solution, because the evidence now indicates that, in the immediate future, a higher education might not as surely lead to job satisfaction and financial reward as it once did.

Roman coins removed from Naples museum

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Bandits raided the national museum in Naples, tied up the guards and made off with at least 1,000 Roman coins from one of the greatest collections in the world, police reported Monday.

The stolen coins are worth hundreds of thousands of dollars, said museum director Enrica Pozzi Paolini after a preliminary inspection of the sacked cases.

Stolen were bronze, silver and gold coins dating from the second century B.C. to the fifth century A.D.

Police reported a gang of four men entered the museum Sunday night, tied up the guards in the coin gallery, cut telephone lines and looted the most valuable of the coins on display.

They stuffed the loot into two large bags and escaped. The robbery was not reported until one of the guards was able to free himself.

Miss Pozzi said the stolen coins were catalogued and known to experts throughout the world but said they could still command a high price on the black market.

It was the second major attack on the art patrimony in the Naples area in a month. In January, thieves chiseled 12 paintings from the walls of a Pompeian house, part of the city entombed by the eruption of Vesuvius 1,900 years ago.

The building housing the national museum here was built in 1599 and contains treasures stocked by the Bourbon kings. Many art works were removed for safety during World War II.

Police have few clues in K.C. murder

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Police said Sunday night they had few clues in the weekend slaying of reputed Kansas City gangland figure John F. "Johnny Green" Amaro.

Amaro, 53, was shotgunned to death early Saturday while sitting in a car in his garage, police said.

Twenty-five investigators have been assigned to the case, which authorities believe may stem from a struggle to control Kansas City's River Quay entertainment area.

Amaro was a former tavern owner in the River Quay and had unsuccessfully applied with others last year for a liquor license for another lounge.

Amaro was shot from either side of his car while he sat in the vehicle, police said.

Empty shell casings were found next to the car and Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms agents were investigating a possible link with two sawed-off shotguns found in a ditch near the scene.

Despite numerous leads, the investigation was progressing slowly because Amaro's family declined to discuss the shooting until after his funeral Tuesday, police said.

Dexter chief kills suspect

DEXTER, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Highway Patrol and the Stoddard County sheriff and coroner were investigating the Sunday morning police shooting of a man being held on suspicion of burglary in the city jail.

The man, Karl Joseph Staudemeyer, 28, was killed by Police Chief James A. Teeters after he and another suspect were taken to the jail after their arrest late Saturday night, authorities said.

Police declined to release details on the shooting, although it reportedly occurred while Teeters and a deputy were removing handcuffs from the prisoner.

A coroner's jury convened Sunday by Stoddard County Coroner Ray Rainey was later dismissed pending an inquest.

The incident began after police interrupted a burglary at a sporting goods store about 11:45 p.m. and a brief gun battle ensued.

Although the two men escaped, one was captured two blocks away about 20 minutes later and another was found in the store about 3 a.m.

MILAN, Italy (AP) — An armed leftist guerrilla who escaped wounded from jail after a shootout with the guards and held a family of five hostage for more than 16 hours surrendered early Monday, weak from the loss of blood, police reported.

The escape of Francesco Bartoli, 29, triggered a revolt by other guerrillas in the jail at Saluzzo, 100 miles southwest of Milan. They seized a guard and three rightist inmates and threatened to execute them unless they were guaranteed that Bartoli and three leftists who tried to escape with him would not be subjected to "reprisals by the capitalist police."

After Bartoli gave up, the guerrillas inside the jail also surrendered. Police said they beat up one of their rightist prisoners and broke some of his bones.

Bartoli was wounded in an arm and in a cheek in the shooting at the jail. A doctor said he had lost a lot of blood. His hostages were not hurt, the police said.

Bartoli was serving a 12-year sentence for robbery. He escaped with three other convicts who were also wounded and were caught immediately. But Bartoli made it to a house across the street from the jail and held the occupants hostage. They included a bank clerk, his wife and three children 9, 12 and 15 years old.

The police said that Bartoli and the three men who tried to escape with him were members of the Red Brigade, an underground band of leftist guerrillas.

Meanwhile, at Rho, near Milan, police fought off a crowd threatening to lynch another leftist, Enzo Fontana, who killed a patrolman and critically wounded another in a shootout at a roadblock.

Fontana was a member of the Armed Proletarian Group, police said. They said he was captured because he panicked and fainted when the wounded policemen shot at him. The shot missed him.

Campbell man forced from home, killed

CAMPBELL, Mo. (AP) — The slaying of a rural Campbell man whose body was found in a ditch Sunday morning was under investigation Monday by local authorities.

The body of James Wayne Bundy, 32, was found handcuffed about three miles south of his home, according to the Missouri Highway Patrol. He suffered undetermined wounds to the head.

Authorities said they had no suspects or motives.

Bundy's wife, Brenda, 33, told police an intruder forced his way into their home early Sunday and, calling Bundy by name, demanded money.

When she returned with some money, her husband was lying on the floor and she was knocked unconscious, she said. When she regained consciousness, there was blood on the floor and her husband was gone.

During the weekend, masked holdup men shot and killed a waiter in a Milan restaurant and two men in a workers' club near Naples.

Two men charged with three deaths

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Two north St. Louis men were charged Sunday with a triple murder, police said.

Police said James Mitchell, 30, and Ronald May, 29, were responsible for the Thursday killings of a young couple and a relative.

Emma Stewart was found shot to death in the bedroom of her apartment, her face shattered by a shotgun blast. But beside her, her 14-month-old son, Antonie, was found unharmed.

In the kitchen, the child's father, Robert Stewart, 28, and a cousin, Joseph Smith, 19, were found dead on the floor. They were also killed by shotgun fire.

The family lived above the International Hook-Up Cocktail Lounge, owned by Stewart's uncle.

Body discovered

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP) — A badly decomposed body was found Sunday near the Meramec River in south St. Louis County.

Police estimated the death had occurred four to six months ago.

Trip nets youth diamond, offers

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — If they had been handing out grades during the high school field trip, Lee Pepper, 16, probably would have gotten an "A."

However, an offer of $300 for his discovery is not bad.

Pepper has turned down the offer for the rough two-carat diamond he plucked from the rocky soil of the Crater of Diamonds State Park near Murfreesboro.

The El Dorado High School sophomore, on a trip with the rock and mineral club, had combed through the plowed earth more than an hour when he spotted it.

"It had kind of a greasy look to it," Pepper said. "It was sparkling a little."

Pepper took the stone to the club sponsor, R. V. Henley, who immediately recognized what Pepper had found.

"He was yelling and hollering and everything else and I was just standing there thinking what a fool he is jumping up and down over a little rock like that," Pepper said. "They heard him a quarter mile away."

"Then I was jumping up and down. I stepped waist deep into a hole. You can't tell a small hole from a big hole out there."

The diamond, which Pepper plans to keep, is about the size of a dime and is shaped like two pyramids merged together, he said.

He was the only club member to find a diamond.

His find has brought him instant fame at school, Pepper said. "I've had people that never talked to me before come up and talk to me," he said.

"I had one girl tell me that if I would give her the diamond she would marry me," he said.

The park near Murfreesboro in southwest Arkansas is on the site of a former commercial diamond mine. The state bought the land in 1972. Tourists pay a $2 admission and can scour the land for gems. The state takes no cut of their findings.

The largest known diamond found there was the 40.42-carat Uncle Sam diamond, found when the mine was commercially operated. The 15.31-carat Star of Arkansas, found nearly 20 years ago, sold recently for about $100,000.

W. W. Johnson of Amarillo, Tex., came away with a 16.37-carat diamond on the site two years ago. It was thought to be the largest ever found by a tourist.

Reader ponders heart surgery

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am a 37-year-old male. I had a very severe heart attack when I was 35. A heart catheterization showed one heart artery was 95 per cent occluded at the front of my heart and an artery on the back was 25 per cent blocked.

About two months ago I had another catheterization and the artery at the front of my heart was only 80 per cent occluded but the one on the back was 75 per cent occluded.

I have been to four different specialists since then and some advise an immediate coronary artery operation and others advise taking my medicines and waiting to see if my condition improves. How in the world does a lay person know what is the best decision? Is there any evidence that the operation prolongs life?

I am not trying to put you on a spot in answering these questions, it is just that I am so confused, I don't know what to think or believe.

Dear Reader — I am not surprised that you are confused. Medicine is not an exact science and scientists often disagree over more exact matters — such as nuclear energy. In medicine, new techniques or new medicines are tested and they have their proponents who think they have had good success in using them and their opponents who have had less satisfactory experiences with the same medicines or techniques.

Whether a person should have a graft put in to detour blood around a block in one or more arteries to the heart muscle depends a lot on the individual case. There are some combinations where surgery will prolong life but your description of the location of your occlusions does not fit that category.

Otherwise, there is no complete agreement among experts that having the graft will prolong your life. It may relieve your symptoms if you are having chest pain.

With the one exception (blockage of the main left coronary artery) I usually prefer that the patient try a medical program. But that program means a lot more than just taking pills. Remarkable results can sometimes be achieved by going on a strict diet to eliminate every ounce of excess body fat a person may have. It should be a low-fat, low-cholesterol diet of about 1200 calories a day or restricted enough to produce a gradual loss of fat. As the fat disappears the chest pain will begin to occur less often and may finally disappear.

There are some studies that suggest that as you reduce you will also help to clear the arteries. The problem most people have is that they do not stay on a diet. They do not lose all the weight they need to lose. If you need to lose 40 pounds, losing 15 may help but it is far short of the results that could be realized.

Of course, smoking, alcohol and probably coffee should be eliminated. Incidentally the patients who do eliminate weight and follow a good program after surgery are the ones who get the best results from surgery — or the associated medical program. (NEA)

for fatal fire

BUCKNER, Mo. (AP) — Authorities have blamed a faulty basement water heater for a fire that killed a Buckner man and his three children Saturday morning.

David R. Walker, 28, and his children, Melissa, 7; Michael, 5, and Christopher, 3, died after the fire broke out about 1 a.m., fire officials said.

The bodies of Walker and the youngest child were found in a bedroom. The other children were in the garage, where they apparently had been left asleep in the car after Walker returned home from a party.

HEW director urging family planning push

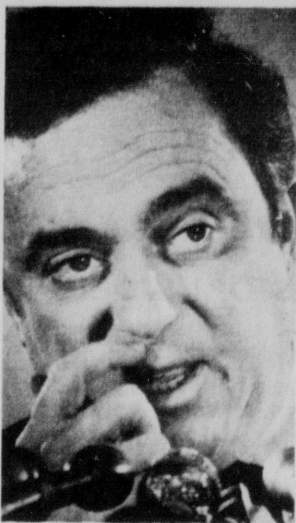

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Joseph Califano Jr., says he objects to abortion for religious reasons but believes family planning "is fine, appropriate and should be pushed much harder than it is."

Califano, a Roman Catholic, heads the agency that funds abortions and birth control, both of which his church opposes.

Sources in the department say the administration's support of family planning as an alternative to abortion will be evident in President Carter's budget proposals, which will call for increased funding of birth control programs.

In a weekend interview, his first since taking office, Califano was asked why he is opposed to abortion and federal financing of abortions under Medicaid for the poor. "Well, I'm sure it's for a personally held moral view," he said. "It's obviously a reflection of religious belief" and ethics. "The moment at which life begins is something on which people in this country disagree ... There's a tremendous amount of study going on right now on that issue."

Califano has suggested family planning as one alternative to abortion. He was asked how family planning, particularly using artificial birth control devices, squared with his religious beliefs.

Joseph Califano

"I think family planning is fine, appropriate and should be pushed much harder than it is. And we will push it much harder. Not only family planning, there are lots of other alternatives we need to deal with," he replied.

"We have to have sex education. We have to have much better research into what I would call healthy children. We've got to learn a great deal more about the fetus and about what creates, what causes or what endangers that fetus in growing into a healthy child. And we should invest more funds in that kind of research."

At present, HEW is financing abortions for poor women on Medicaid under a federal court order. Congress passed a law last year that attempted to prohibit that funding, but a judge in New York ruled that the law was unconstitutional. The department has continued funding abortions while the case is being appealed.

On other issues discussed during the interview, Califano said:

—It would be "reprehensible" for hospitals to increase their charges before the Carter administration's planned cost control measures go into effect, probably later this year.

—He would like the power to penalize school administrators who violate civil rights laws but, lacking that tool, will cut off federal funds if necessary to end race and sex discrimination.

—He has "absolutely no objections" to busing school children and wishes Congress would give him more flexibility to use busing as a means of desegregating schools.

Califano said the administration's decision to present a hospital "cost containment" plan to Congress is settled but that details have not been worked out. He said hospital administrators and other interested parties are being consulted before the bill is drafted.

Stevie Wonder walks away with Grammy honors again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Stevie Wonder's ambitious personal opus, "Songs in the Key of Life," has earned him four of the recording industry's Grammy awards, giving the blind rhythm-and-blues singer domination of this year's contest.

As he did in 1973 and 1974, Wonder took top album of the year honors, and was also cited for best producer, best performance by a male rhythm and blues singer and best performance by a male pop singer.

The 19th annual awards of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences Saturday night also featured George Benson as a big winner. The jazz-oriented guitar player and singer took three Grammys for best single record, "This Masquerade;" best pop instrumental performance, "Breezin';" and Best R&B instrumental performance, "Theme from Good King Bad."

Linda Ronstadt, whose album "Hasten Down the Wind" showed her long attachment to country music being augmented with pop, reggae and rock and roll nostalgia material, was voted best female pop singer. Emmylou Harris, a sometime musical associate of Ronstadt, won for best female country vocal performance.

After years of commercial success and 18 Grammy nominations, Chicago finally won the industry's recognition with three awards, including one for best pop group.

Natalie Cole, last year's winner for best new artist, took her second Grammy as best female R&B singer. The best R&B song was Boz Scaggs' "Lowdown."

The two-hour live telecast featured a satellite-relayed performance by Wonder from Lagos, Nigeria, where he was attending an African musical gathering. The performance was marred by poor reception.

Other awards included Ronnie Milsap, best male country singer; Larry Gatlin, best country song ("Broken Lady"); and Starland Vocal Band, best new recording act.

Count Basie was awarded best jazz performance by a soloist for "Basie and Zoot;" Chick Corea's group, best jazz group, and Duke Ellington, best big-band jazz performance.

In classical music, the album of the year was Artur Schnabel's playing of the five Beethoven piano concertos with Daniel Barenboim and the London Philharmonic.

Swindle-by-mail business made $514 million in '76

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you're looking for a quick way to get rich, lose weight, grow hair, remove wrinkles or become a better lover, you're a target for a fast-growing, half-billion dollar industry — mail fraud.

Postal Service officials say the swindle-by-mail business is so sophisticated it has developed a legitimate offshoot. One promoter is peddling the names of his best customers, a "prime sucker list."

Anyone looking for a start in swindling can purchase the list legally. That way he doesn't have to drum up his own clientele.

Officials responsible for policing mail fraud say it is both diverse and booming. "The variety of stuff around is amazing," said George Davis, assistant general counsel for the Post Office.

The Postal Service estimates swindlers who made about $194 million two years ago upped their take to at least $514 million in fiscal 1976.

Postal authorities stress that most of the $60 billion-a-year mail order industry is reputable. But they warn consumers to be suspicious of products and direct-mail offers that seem too good to be true.

Recent examples include a cream to "quickly enlarge the bustline up to five times while sleeping" and a "youth mask" guaranteed to produce the "equivalent to a miniature facelift."

Unscrupulous promoters have used the mails to sell the public worthless diet pills, fake medical devices, phony investment plans, pseudo cures for baldness and impotency, so-called aphrodisiacs, and fake devices to remove wrinkles and increase the length of fingernails.

Another outfit advertised executive job openings in a nonexistent chain of supermarkets.

One rip-off artist had a religious twist, soliciting priests for donations to help win canonization of John Neumann, a 19th century Philadelphia bishop who already had been chosen for sainthood.

To combat mail-order promoters who advertise falsely or who fail to furnish the product they promise, the Postal Service can stop delivering them their mail, cutting off the supply of cash. Or it can move under the nation's oldest consumer protection law, the 1872 mail fraud law, to seek jail terms against the operators.

Meramec Dam funds

Reaction varies to cutoff

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — President Jimmy Carter has drawn cheers and jeers for his proposed cutoff of $10 million in federal funds for the Meramec Lake Project in eastern Missouri.

Don Rimbach, director of the Citizens Investigation of Meramec Dam, led opponents of the project in praising the President as a man of his word.

But Rep. Robert Young, D-Mo., said Sunday any plans to abandon the Meramec Dam project "would have disastrous and far-reaching consequences for the residents of eastern Missouri."

The Meramec project, about 65 miles southwest of St. Louis, is one of 18 dams and water projects in 15 states that Carter has deleted from his proposed 1978 budget.

Former President Gerald R. Ford had recommended $10 million in his budget to continue construction of the $125 million, 12,600-acre project.

Rimbach said Carter was merely keeping a campaign promise to stop the project. "I'm really enthralled over Carter's stated principle and now his implemented principle," said Rimbach.

But Young said the federal government was doing a "terrible disservice" to Missourians by trying to save money in abandoning the dam project, then "spending a billion dollars on an unneeded airport (near St. Louis) in Southern Illinois."

James F. Gamble, president of the Meramec Basin Association, said Carter would soon be hearing from those favoring the dam.

"The over-all problem at the moment is that Mr. Carter does not know the situation in the Meramec area — population growth, people's needs and the necessity of sound conservation management to meet these needs," Gamble said.

Both Young and Rep. Richard Ichord, D-Mo., expressed confidence that the House of Representatives would restore the $10 million to the budget.

Charges filed in knife death

CUBA, Mo. (AP) — A Crawford County man has been charged with first-degree murder in connection with a stabbing death Saturday night at a Cuba tavern.

Ronald Branson, 42, was taken into custody after he allegedly stabbed William Southard, 32, during a fight at the tavern. Southard died at the scene.

HECKART/GILLESPIE FUNERAL HOME

HAVE YOU HEARD ABOUT OUR "NO-PAYMENT" PRE-PLAN PROGRAM?

Did you know you can pre-plan funeral services at no charge? You can. It will cost you nothing at all to make your wishes known as to your choice of service, casket, music, specific readings from Scripture-even arrange for your favorite flowers and your clergyman. And these arrangements-in-advance can be made without cost or obligation.

HERE'S HOW TO DO IT: First, come in and complete our Pre-Planning Form with our help. The form covers all the above-mentioned choices and many others. Second, you will receive copies of the Form for safekeeping with your lawyer, accountant, designated estate administrator or family member. Third, a copy remains with us which you may review from time-to-time and update as you require. PRE-PAYMENT OPTIONS: Several pre-payment plans are available, too, if you choose to pay in advance. But pre-planning does not necessarily mean pre-payment. Stop by for full details.
